Our Beginning

The Ship Inn started out in Seaside in 1972 as a one man operation, in a tiny location that housed two picnic tables with benches, two fryers, one kitchen table and the kitchen sink!

In 1974, we opened in Astoria, in the present building which was at that time located at 12 West Marine Drive. When the land we stood on was bought out from under our feet, we moved the building to our present location in 1977. There have been various additions and improvements since that time and we now employ 27 people, and sell over two TONS of fish and seafood per month. Along with the magnificent views of the Columbia River and the spectacular sunsets, you will see large piles of rock close to the shore. These rocks were used as ballast in the old sailing ships as they entered the Columbia to pick up salted and canned salmon. To make room for the fish, they would throw the rocks overboard and they still lie there today. You will also notice a rusty metal sculpture to the left, which is, in reality, a boiler, the only remnant of a burned out cannery.

You will see all manner of boats and ships pass within 600 feet of your table, and there are plenty of seals and water birds out there too.

We decided to call our restaurant The Ship Inn as we are both from England, and there is a Ship Inn Pub in almost every port town in that country. Sir Francis Drake's local pub, which he frequented in the 1560's and 70's, and which is still in operation today in Exter, England is named The Ship Inn.

We have been credited with many awards and commendations over the years. Not bad for a little English fish and chips shop!

Sincerely Yours,
Fenton and Jill Stokeld

A Brief Look at Astoria

Astoria has been an important part of the Pacific Northwest since the arrival of John Jacob Astor's trading company in 1811. The scenery and resources of the area have been attracting people for almost 200 years. Astoria carries the distinction of being the oldest U.S. settlement west of the Rocky Mountains.

Settled mostly by people of Scandinavian origins, much of the culture is still evident today. Many of the shops feature Scandinavian items. There are also several festivals and celebrations that center on the local history and cultural traditions.

Astoria has a population of about 10,000 residents, with a thriving business community. It is also popular in the film industry. Movies such as Kindergarten Cop and Free Willy have been filmed here. There is also a new aquatic center and many other activities to see and do.

The staff at The Ship Inn welcomes you to Astoria and hope that you enjoy your stay.
